Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to print advertising "bombs" free any more than a merchant can lose over his counter free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a valuable business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

West Virginian Claims a Fair Young Maysvillian for His Bride.

WOODYARD-ALBERT WEDDINGS.

Those whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder.

With a depth of meaning and a soulful power those words last night, uttered by the divinely appointed head of spiritual affairs, Rev. D. D. Chapin of the Church of the Nativity, joined for time and eternity Mr. Jacob Francis Woodyard, Jr., and Miss Harriette A. Albert.

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Cox, sister of the bride, was the scene of the nuptials, and some thirty relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

The home was in holiday attire, with chivalric emblems and flowers interwining, making a rose, amaranth and holly bower amid which they stood to plight their troth.

At 8:45 Miss Blatterman at the piano announced the coming of the bride and groom, she on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. George L. Cox, while he came with Miss Katherine, the bride's sister, by the conventional and ever beautiful Wedding March from Lohengrin. Descending the stairs, they approached the archway in the parlors through hall and dining-room, where they took their position before the officiating clergyman, who read most impressively the full marriage service of the Church of which the bride is a consistent and devoted member.

Immediately following congratulations the guests were served with dainty refreshments. At 10:40 the happy pair left on the C. and O. train for an extended trip East and West. The presents were really elegant, and so numerous as to occupy a room to themselves. It is no wonder this, for Harriette Albert is a dainty, lovely girl, with a disposition as sweet as the roses she carried and as honest as the strains of music which accompanied her on her way to the altar.

She was dressed in full bridal robes, with a huge bunch of mistletoe which swayed and nodded the while as a subject saluted to the Queen, for in her gown of cream silk, the filmy tulle about her rich, exquisite complexion and dark brown lustrous eyes and Dresden-like form made her as beautiful a picture as mortal ever saw.

Mr. Woodyard is a young Lochlinvar in chivalry, handsome and prosperous, and is just the man to be honored with so rare a jewel for a life partner.

May all the blessings of life attend them; may the tinge of romance which brought them together color their years, so that in all joys and ills they may extract only true bliss.

The Intervening
Days

We talked to you about last week have passed, and judging from the great number of useful and beautiful things we sold for presents, many persons, both young and old, have been made happy. Right here we wish to tender our sincere thanks to our friends for their liberal patronage, with the assurance that we will try to merit a continuance by showing them the latest and best goods at lowest prices.

BALLENGER, Jeweler.

The play, "Fatal Wedding," which was given at the Court House Monday evening, was a success beyond expectation, for there was not even a standing room. A special feature was the singing of Miss Jessie Pendleton of Cincinnati. Much credit for the success is due to the Misses Lee and Mrs. Lee, the "poor woman" in the wedding, Miss Bertha Coleman, and the Minister, Rev. Charles Washington. In fact all played their parts well.

The Love of Money

Is the secret of our bargains. We want money; so do you. We both love it. Hard to sell after Christmas even at a fair reduction, but we want to do business and turn over our stock even at little or no profit. Stagnation is death to our bank account, so the retail business must be pushed by wholesale prices. If you are a money saver we won't have to urge you to buy, once you see our goods.

Cloaks Sacrificed.

We mean it—every word. The stock has been carefully gone through and every Cloak has been reduced in price. There's much money-saving importance to this sale. Isn't this your opportunity? Some of the Coats and Capes at $3 have inlaid velvet collars, many are half silk lined. Black, blue, brown. Some of the Coats and Capes at $5 are imported, many are braid and button trimmed. Black, green, brown. Don't forget there are three months or more of coat wearing time ahead.
